Help For Nation's Aged

Every public official in sight as well as those aspiring to higher office have been drawn to the White House Conference on Aging.

The five-day meeting, which began this week, is the climax of two years of preparation. It has produced a mountain of documentation (for the 2,400 delegates) on the plight of the nation's elderly. And it is producing a mountain of solutions—practical as well as impractical—from speakers who are addressing themselves to some 20.5 million Americans 65 or older.

This vast group deserves all the attention it is receiving. Its problems are mounting and demands for relief are more insistent. Since 1935, with the creation of Social Security, there has been a steady growth of programs introduced for the elderly. Despite this, the conference has reported dismal tales of neglect, untended ills, discrimination and exploitation.

Elderly people form 10 per cent of the population; they account for 20 per cent of the poverty and 27 per cent of the health-care expenditures of the nation. Their needs are far from being met. For example, Medicare and Medicaid provide on the average only 43 per cent of their medical expenses.

Sponsors of the conference are well aware that words and promises will not be enough. The elderly, now being organized in pressure groups, want action. With their 20 million potential votes up for grabs in next year's Presidential election, the older citizens are assured of receptive hearings from both major political parties. —Tulsa (Okla.) World

Indians Taught to Be Productive Now

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Reversing a 15-year program of training Indians how to work in the nation's cities, the government says it will start teaching them how to be productive on the reservation.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs planned to announce today its $40 million-a-year training program to teach skills useful on or near reservations. Additionally, the BIA says, it is asking all reservations to draw up long-term development plans.

By May 11, reservations will be chosen for funding of "reservation acceleration programs." BIA Commissioner Louis R. Bruce calls the new program "the most comprehensive ever devised in the BIA to assist American Indians toward self-determination."

Tribal leaders and White House officials have been discussing the changes with Bruce since late last year. And an aide said Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton is among those who have given enthusiastic support.

"This is the beginning of the solution to the Indian problem," the aide said. "It's double-jointed: Jobs and economic and social mobility plus saving their Indian culture by allowing them to stay on the reservation. It's revolutionary."

The five points of the program are:
—A reservation-by-reservation development, perhaps patterned after one still being negotiated by the Standing Rock Sioux tribe of South Dakota. Their plan extends to the year 2,000 and includes provision for a bank, shopping center, cattle industry, rest home and new housing.
—Redirection of the BIA Em-

Special Meet February 7

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers apparently will call a special session of the legislature for Feb. 7 if preparations can be made by then.

A legislative source who asked not to be identified said Feb. 7 had been set as the target date for the calling of the session, but if necessary preparations cannot be made by then the session will be called for Feb. 14.

Bumpers held a strategy session at the Governor's Mansion Thursday at which the dates reportedly were decided upon. It was the second known meeting of administrative strategists.

The date of the special session, or even whether there will be one, has been one of the best kept secrets of the Bumpers administration.

Bumpers has remained non-committal publicly on a special session, but he has said he would not hesitate to call one if he saw the need.

The governor also has said he has asked state agencies to make preparations as if there would be one.

Bumpers has long chafed under the BIA's implicit encouragement to Indians to flee the reservation for cities, which they often find alien and devoid of opportunities.

An aide acknowledged that some critics might call reservation living a form of segregation "but we consider it allowing Indians to live as they want to live."

Superman Adopted by Metropolis--No Joke

By PENNIE SUE THURMAN
Associated Press Writer

METROPOLIS, Ill. (AP) — Superman, that fearless crusader for truth, justice and the American way, is being adopted by the citizens of Metropolis.

"This is not a sham or a joke," says Bob Westerfield, a Metropolis resident who first thought of using the Man of Steel to put Metropolis on the map.

"We intend to treat Superman in the proper perspective," Westerfield said. "They've promised to send us the uniform George Reeves wore in the original television series," Westerfield, 43, said.

"We also plan to set up a committee to read and answer letters mailed to Superman in care of Metropolis."

This is the only Metropolis listed in the U.S. postal guide.

The Superman known to generations of Americans came to a fictional city called Metropolis in a rocket, sent by his parents who died when the planet of Krypton blew up. Raised as Clark Kent by a middle-class American couple, he went to work as a reporter on the Metropolis Daily Planet, shedding his mild-mannered cover when he was needed to fight crime.

The Illinois Metropolis, on the Ohio River, is hardly the place for a big-time crime fighter. The town's 7,000 citizens, however, are working on the image. One of the proposals would change the name of the Metropolis Daily News, a weekly newspaper, to the Metropolis Daily Planet.

Other ideas are to use a Superman letterhead on the city's stationery and put a 20-foot illuminated Superman figure on the city's water tower.

"That tower is 200 feet high," Westerfield says. "You could see him from anywhere in Massac County."

Harold Mescher, president of the Chamber of Commerce, says that businesses, for a fee, will be able to buy certificates of membership in a Superman Club. By proclamation, visiting dignitaries also will be designated honorary Supermen. Money from the membership fees is earmarked for the city treasury.

Safer Cigarette Possible

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal researcher says a safer, even absolutely safe, cigarette can be devised. But would it sell?

"We must take out the danger and leave in the pleasure," said Dr. Gio Gori, head of the major effort in safer-cigarette research, the Tobacco Working Group at the National Institute of Health.

For two years he and his colleagues have been peering at smoke condensate applied to rat tissue and chicken tracheas. These tests are still to be evaluated and they will lead to more in the next two years.

But Gori said the technical knowledge now exists for developing a less hazardous cigarette.

A perfectly safe cigarette today would filter everything from tobacco smoke. "We have the means of a 100-per-cent filter, but all you would have is hot air," Gori explained.

So the answer involves in no small way the reason people smoke, a relatively undefined field requiring much more study, Gori said.

For instance, a safer cigarette would have less nicotine. Experimental tobacco strains with little or no nicotine in them could be developed in two or three years for a commercially productive harvest, Gori said.

But he added, would smokers stick with a low-or zero-nicotine cigarette or simply smoke many more of them to make up for the loss?

Death of Danes King Mourned

COPENHAGEN (AP) —

Danes mourned today the death of their popular king, Frederik IX, but welcomed 31-year-old Queen Margrethe II, his eldest daughter, as the nation's new constitutional monarch.

Church bells tolled and 81-gun tributes boomed from naval batteries. The red and white flag of Denmark was lowered to half-staff on public buildings and private homes throughout the country.

Hundreds braved a bitter cold and gathered in the palace square Friday night as the news of the king's death spread through the capital. Spontaneously, the crowd began singing a hymn known to be Frederik's favorite.

Frederik, 72, died Friday night, two weeks after falling ill just after making his traditional television greeting to the nation on New Year's Eve. This was the last Danes saw of their king, who was preparing to celebrate the 25th anniversary of his reign in April.

Frederik was stricken with influenza on New Year's Day and suffered a heart attack Jan. 3.

Tuesday he suffered a relapse and gradually slipped into a deep coma, never to regain consciousness.

His wife, queen Ingrid, and his three daughters and their husbands, kept a vigil at the hospital as the king's life slipped away.

The king's body will lie in state until the final journey by train to Roskilde Cathedral, 20 miles west of Copenhagen. There it will be laid to rest in the royal sepulchre among the remains of 40 other kings and queens.

No date for the funeral was announced yet, but it was expected to be in about eight days.

There will be no coronation ceremonies for Margrethe, just a simple proclamation in mid-afternoon by Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag from the balcony of Christiansborg Castle, the Parliament.

No Danish monarch has been crowned since the last century. The crown jewels are museum pieces and so is the throne. Frederik held many titles, but it has become known that Margrethe—called Daisy by her relatives and friends—wants to sweep them away.

$54,000 Grant for Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Economic Development Administration has approved a $54,000 grant to the West Central Arkansas Planning and Development District to continue a program of planning for economic growth for a 10-county area.

The district, whose office is located in Hot Springs, Ark., will provide $48,850 to complete the $102,900 total cost of continuing the program.

The counties included in the district are Clark, Conway, Garland, Hot Spring, Johnson, Montgomery, Perry, Pike, Pope and Yell.

Steinfeld raised the same point in a report Monday calling for renewed efforts to develop safe cigarettes.

The report said scientists no longer question the danger of smoking, a statement attacked by the Tobacco Institute as false and misleading.

Steinfeld called that statement "self-serving" and accused the tobacco industry Tuesday of endangering the public health by purposely clouding the hazards of cigarette smoking.

Dr. Gori said he does not know if the safer cigarette his group can now devise would be less hazardous than all brands on the market. "We haven't tested all the brands," he said.

Senate hearings have been called to consider legislating tar-and-nicotine limits.

Strong Auto Bumpers No Immediate Help

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A State Insurance Board order to cut premiums for Texans who have strong auto bumpers apparently will not be of much immediate help to drivers.

Donald O'Brien, chief of the board's auto insurance division, said Tuesday that so far "no domestic manufacturers have certified that their cars" meet the standards set out by the board.

He said he only knew of two makes that meet the board's standards for discounts—"a couple of SAAB models and a Mercedes-Benz model."

SAAB is made in Sweden and Mercedes-Benz in Germany. The board ordered these "bumper discounts":

—20 per cent for 1972 cars equipped with bumpers that can withstand a 5 miles per hour crash, front and rear, without damage.

—15 per cent for 1972 autos

whose bumpers can sustain a front-end crash at 5 mph and a rear-end collision at 2½ mph with a stationary barrier.

—10 per cent for 1972 cars that can sustain a 5 mph front-end and 2½ mph rear-end collision without damage to lights or to fuel, exhaust, cooling or latching systems, or to the bumpers themselves.

The board also said it would require the same discounts for earlier model cars which have bumpers that can meet those standards, but it would be up to the policyholder to submit a certificate that the bumpers meet the standards.

Allstate Insurance Co. asked to grant the discount, but in Texas car rates must be uniform, so the board ordered the reductions for all companies on collision premiums.

Federal standards require that all bumpers withstand a 5 mph collision, front and back, by 1975.

Smoking Not Harmful to the Unborn Baby

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A University of California scientist who made a study involving 5,077 women has concluded tentatively that cigarette smoking might not interfere with development of an unborn child, as is widely suspected.

The conclusions of Dr. Jacob Yerushalmi of the university's school of public health at Berkeley sharply contradict results of more than 30 scientific studies in the last 15 years that linked smoking to lower birthweight babies. Such conclusions have been a powerful argument of antismoking forces.

Yerushalmi's research on the women who bore 8,671 babies was supported by the National Institutes of Health. He describes it in an article appearing today in the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology. A nonsmoker, he thinks his study raises important questions that must be answered before smoking's harmful effects on the fetus are accepted as a foregone conclusion.

"Because of the important implications of these findings not only to the question of smoking and prematurity but also to the other aspects of the problem of smoking and health, the conclusions must be considered tentative," he wrote in the article.

"The findings however, make a strong case for the need to investigate the problem on much larger samples of births and to include for study many more variables."

The women in Yerushalmi's study were patients at Kaiser Hospital in Oakland between 1960-67. He studied women in four classes: those who never smoked, those who gave birth to children and began smoking later, those who smoked throughout their pregnancies and haven't stopped, and those who smoked while pregnant but quit after their baby was born.

The striking finding, he reports, was that just as many low birthweight infants were born to continuous smokers as to women who had never smoked but took up cigarettes after the child was born. Striking also, he said, was finding that smokers who later quit gave birth to few low weight babies even though they had smoked during the pregnancy.

"These findings raise doubt and argue against the proposition that cigarette smoking acts as an exogenous external factor which interferes with the intrauterine development of the fetus," Yerushalmi concludes.

"Rather, the evidence appears to support the hypothesis that the higher incidence of low birthweight infants is due to the smoker not the smoking."

He said, however, the United States considers the incident serious and does not intend to let it drop.

Earlier this week, U.S. and Soviet officials were involved in an incident over Soviet exchange student Merab Kurashvili, who apparently attempted suicide in New York while being escorted by Soviet officials to an airplane bound for Moscow. Kurashvili was finally allowed to fly home after U.S. officials said they were satisfied he was not being forced to do so.

Earlier Friday, the Soviets called for the immediate expulsion of U.S. Rep. James H. Scheuer, D-N.Y., who was arrested and held briefly by Soviet police after he called at the Moscow apartment of a prominent Soviet Jew.

Mrs. Henrietta Holcomb of Fayetteville and Mrs. Dorothy Mansur of Magnet Cove will be in the runoff to be conducted by local associations the week of March 6-10.

Mrs. Holcomb had 4,985 votes in the primary and Mrs. Mansur had 4,216. The primary eliminated Jack Marrable of El Dorado, who had 3,375 votes, and York Williams Jr. of Dermott, who had 3,480.

The winner of the runoff will be AEA president in 1972-73. Mrs. Alice Glover of Little Rock is the current AEA president. She will be succeeded May 1 by Carlton Hasley or Magnolia, who currently is president-elect.

Funds Probe at Hamburg

HAMBURG, Ark. (AP)—Sheriff E. G. Sparks of Ashley County said Thursday he had asked Circuit Court Judge G. B. Colvin Jr. of Dermott to call the county Grand Jury into session to investigate alleged shortages of more than $18,000 in the sheriff's office during the past two years.

He said state auditors had discovered shortages of $6,401 in 1970 and $9,921 in 1971 for the sheriff's accounts and a shortage of $2,290 in the collector's account, which is handled by Sparks.

Sparks said the grand jury would "determine who is the responsible party and obtain necessary indictments for prosecution."

Bill Furlow, who served as sheriff by appointment following the New Year's Eve death of Sheriff B. A. Courson in 1970 until Sparks took office Jan. 1, 1971, refused to comment on the alleged shortage.

Named to Bank Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers announced Thursday the appointment of Edward H. Cherry of Jonesboro to the state Bank Board for a term to expire Dec. 31, 1976.

Cherry, 48, president of the Mercantile Bank in Jonesboro, succeeds Jack W. Rich of West Memphis, whose term expired last Dec. 31.

Bumpers also announced the appointment of Kenneth Harris of El Dorado to the state Board of Sanitarians, succeeding Zack Boykin of Malvern; Dr. John Schult of Fayetteville to the Psychology Examiner Board, replacing Dr. Phillip Trapp of Fayetteville; Mrs. Gloria Ritter of Marked Tree to the St. Francis Levee District to fill the vacancy left by the death of her husband.

The governor also reappointed Forrest Rodgers of Lincoln to the state Plant Board.

Named to the Board of Directors of the Garland Levee District were Brooks Montgomery of Lewisville; Lawrence E. Huff, Raymond Caswell and Robert E. Ransdall Jr., all of Fouke; Harold Tullis, John W. Crank, Ruevell Goodson of E. A. Morriss, all of Garland, and George Brown of Doddridge.

U.S. Attache Attacked in Moscow

By ROBERT J. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. military attache at the American Embassy in Moscow was physically assaulted by more than a dozen persons Jan. 5 at an airport in the Soviet Union, according to the State Department.

The incident is the third in the past 10 days to mar U.S.-Soviet relations.

A State Department spokesman said Friday night that Capt. Elmer L. Alderfer, an assistant Air Force attache at the embassy, was attacked at the Riga airport. He was visiting Riga on a trip previously cleared by Soviet officials.

The Soviet Union has rejected one strong U.S. protest over the incident and has not responded to another, the spokesman said.

According to the State Department, Alderfer was attacked initially by four to six persons with another dozen or so, presumably airport employees, then joining in the assault.

Alderfer was thrown to the ground, his coat and shirt ripped and his arm twisted, the spokesman said. He was thoroughly searched, then taken to the airport chief's office and accused of taking pictures of the airport, the official added. Alderfer was released about a half hour later.

Although Alderfer had a camera with him, he had taken no pictures, the State Department said. The camera was returned after the incident.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow on Jan. 6 "strongly protested this violation of diplomatic immunity," the official said.

The embassy's complaint citing, among other things, the failure of local authorities to prevent the assault of the U.S. officer at a public airport and the failure to arrest the attackers, was promptly rejected by the Soviet foreign Ministry pending an investigation, the State Department said.

The spokesman said another protest was lodged with the Soviet Embassy in Washington Jan. 10, but no reply has been received.

He said, however, the United States considers the incident serious and does not intend to let it drop.

Earlier this week, U.S. and Soviet officials were involved in an incident over Soviet exchange student Merab Kurashvili, who apparently attempted suicide in New York while being escorted by Soviet officials to an airplane bound for Moscow. Kurashvili was finally allowed to fly home after U.S. officials said they were satisfied he was not being forced to do so.

Women in AEA Runoff

Mrs. Henrietta Holcomb of Fayetteville and Mrs. Dorothy Mansur of Magnet Cove will be in the runoff to be conducted by local associations the week of March 6-10.

Mrs. Holcomb had 4,985 votes in the primary and Mrs. Mansur had 4,216. The primary eliminated Jack Marrable of El Dorado, who had 3,375 votes, and York Williams Jr. of Dermott, who had 3,480.

Redistricting Board Lashed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Pulaski County Republican Committee chairman said in a speech here Thursday that the state Board of Apportionment practiced deliberate gerrymandering in drawing new legislative districts.

William T. Kelly of Little Rock, the GOP official, made the charge in a speech to the Southwest Little Rock Kiwanis Club. He said the aim of the board's action was political gain.

AD GETS RESULTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Beseiged by requests for help in finding jobs, the Rev. George Clements, black pastor of Holy Angels Roman Catholic Church here, ran a newspaper ad listing the names of 144 "healthy able-bodied men" needing work to provide for their families.

More than 50 employers responded, offering jobs. The results were so impressive that the Illinois State Employment Service set up an office in the church basement, with two full-time job interviewers. More than 400 unemployed blacks have obtained jobs.

"These men are not asking for handouts," Father Clements says. "They want to work. At last, many are being given a chance to do so."

COLLEGEVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Mission personnel of major U.S. Protestant denominations has decreased by about 10 percent or 1,000 persons during the past three years, says the Rev. Dr. David M. Stowe, top missions executive of the United Church of Christ.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — CBS has replaced half of its canceled "Bears" with "Me and the Chimp." "Bears" was not a good show, but "Me and the Chimp" is out of place. It should be in the Saturday morning block of children's shows.

There has not been a situation comedy built around the antics of a trained chimpanzee since "The Hathaways" had a brief little go-around several seasons back.

This time, the chimp seems to be added to a standard situation comedy format. There is the usual cute wife, two darling children and a terrible tempered idiot of a husband-father. The family finds a monkey and gives it house room until its owner can be found. The chimp is named "Buttons" because it likes to push them and in the premiere program Thursday gales of laugh-track guffaws flooded out when Buttons turned on the blender, the toaster, the washing machine and even got to the adding machine when daddy was trying to balance his checking account.

It really is an abysmal, juvenile show and the only excuse for it as a midseason replacement is that CBS must have some program when the overwhelmingly popular "Flip Wilson Show" is being broadcast on NBC.

Ted Bessell, who played Marlo Thomas' fiancé in "That Girl," now plays a dentist-tooth jokes started in the first show—and straight man for the chimp, who has the best role in the series.

Another apparent sacrifice to Wilson's popularity seems to be the long-playing "My Three Sons," now moved into the half hour following the monkey business. It may be a bit tired after all the seasons in which star Fred MacMurray has progressed from widower father with young sons to doting grandfather, but the show deserves a better break than CBS seems inclined to give it for the rest of this season.

CBS, while taking it from Wilson, is also dishing it out with "All in the Family" knocking off both Don Adams' "Partners" on NBC and "Gettysburg" on ABC.

Before the week ends, three replacement series will be moving into position. NBC's "Sanford and Son," American adaptation of the British comedy hit "Steptoe and Son," will have its premiere tonight at 8 EST, while Don Rickles' new situation comedy arrives on CBS at 10:30 p.m. On Saturday ABC will launch "The Sixth Sense."

All networks have been playing musical chairs with programs so it is hard to see which show is replacing each drop-out.

LID FOR FREEWAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A block-long "lid" will cover a major freeway running through the heart of Seattle, Wash., says the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The "lid" will hide the freeway and muffle noise where the traffic runs below the surface. The "lid" will be a 3.6 acre park with trees, grass and falling water that will provide a retreat for the pedestrian and a novel driving experience to the freeway traveler.

In addition, the park will extend over a 200-car, privately-owned garage at one end and a 60-car city parking garage at the other.

Reader Request: Mashed Potato Candy

MASHED POTATO CANDY — Coconut Kisses, Coconut Chocolate Squares, Chocolate Kisses and Maple Pecan Drops are all made from a basic recipe.

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: Could you please use a recipe for instant mashed potato candy? I have tasted candy made from such a recipe, but the girl whose house I tasted it at doesn't like to give out recipes. Strange, isn't she? But there are people like that, you know. Can you help me? — CANDY FAN.

DEAR CANDY FAN: Secrets will out! Here's a basic version of the recipe you want with four variations. This recipe is made the easy way — with instant potato granules used for mashed potatoes. — C.B.

MASHED POTATO COCONUT KISSES

1/3 cup water
2 tablespoons milk
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons instant potato granules (for mashed potatoes), from a 6 1/2-ounce package

1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 pound confectioners' sugar
1 container (4 ounces) shredded coconut (1 1/2 cups)
Into a 2-quart saucepan turn the water, milk and salt. Bring just to the boil. Remove from heat. Add butter and potato granules. With a fork, beat until light and fluffy. Stir in almond extract.

With a spoon, gradually beat in confectioners' sugar; mixture will become liquid at first, then thicken. Continue beating until mixture is thick enough to hold its shape. Mix in coconut.

Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto wax paper to harden. Makes 1 3/4 pounds or about 38 pieces.

Note: If confectioners' sugar is from a fresh unopened box, there's no need to sift in making this recipe. If you used opened boxes of the sugar, sift and measure 4 1/2 cups.

VARIATIONS:
Coconut Chocolate Squares — Line the bottom of a square 8-inch cake pan with wax paper.

Melt 3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate over low heat, stirring constantly. Pour into wax-paper lined pan and tilt pan to spread chocolate evenly over bottom. Prepare Mashed Potato Coconut Kisses mixture. If chocolate isn't partially hardened when Kisses mixture is finished, refrigerate pan until chocolate is partially hardened. Spoon Kisses Mixture over chocolate and spread evenly with fingers. Chill until firm. Turn out of pan onto board, remove wax paper and cut into squares.

Chocolate Kisses — Prepare Mashed Potato Kisses mixture substituting 1/4 cup cocoa for 1/4 cup of the confectioners' sugar, 1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts for the coconut and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla for the almond extract.

Maple Pecan Drops — Prepared Mashed Potato Coconut Kisses mixture substituting 1 cup chopped pecans for the coconut and 1/2 teaspoon maple flavor for the almond extract.

Sometimes 10s and nines turn out to be a liability. South does well to arrive at five diamonds. He has to lose two spades and eventually must decide which way to finesse for the queen of hearts.

Make the 10 and nine of hearts little ones and South will have to play West for the queen and will make his contract.

When we saw this hand played we watched a rather good player go down two tricks as the result of some nice deception by West. This deception was made possible because South had no idea that West knew anything about card play. Otherwise the deception might have told South exactly where the queen of hearts was. West opened the king of spades and continued with the jack to his partner's ace. East led a third spade and West dropped the four spot.

South ran off the rest of his trumps and all the clubs with no apparent thought. West discarded with equally apparent lack of interest in the proceedings. West's first discard was the 10 of spades; his second, the four of hearts. East's first discard was the club three; his second, the three of hearts.

South knew that West was hanging on to the queen of spades. Could this be a guile or was it just careless discarding by a man with no interest in the heart suit.

South decided it was the latter. He led a heart to dummy's king and finessed against East on the next play.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bittel

Speaking of Ecology

DEAR RAP:
Thought your readers would like this as much as I did! — ANOTHER READER

GENESIS—LAST CHAPTER
(The following was written by Kenneth Ross, who, at the time of the writing, was a high school student in Upper Merland, Pa.)

In the end,
There was Earth, and it was with form and beauty.
And man dwelt upon the lands of the Earth, the meadows and trees, and he said,
"Let us build our dwellings in this place of beauty."

And he built cities and covered the Earth with concrete and steel.
And the meadows were gone
And man said, "It is good."

On the second day, man looked upon the waters of the Earth.
And man said, "Let us put our wastes in the waters of the Earth and the dirt will be washed away." And man did.

And the waters became polluted and foul in their smell.
And man said, "It is good."

On the third day, man looked upon the forests of the Earth and saw they were beautiful. And man said,
"Let us cut the timber for our homes and grind the wood for our use." And man did. And the lands became barren and the trees were gone.

And man did. And there were no more animals on the face of the Earth. And man said, "It is good."

On the fourth day, man saw that animals were in abundance and ran in the fields and played in the sun. And man said, "Let us cage these animals for our amusement and kill them for our sport."

And man did. And there were no more animals on the face of the Earth. And man said, "It is good."

On the fifth day, man breathed the air of the Earth. And man said, "Let us dispose of our wastes into the air for the winds shall blow them away. And man did. And the air became filled with the smoke and the fumes could not be blown away.
And the air became heavy with dust and choked and burned. And man said "It is good."

On the sixth day, man saw himself; and seeing the many languages and tongues, he feared and hated. And man said, "Let us build great machines and destroy these lest they destroy us." And man built great machines and the Earth was fired with rage of wars. And man said, "It is good."

On the seventh day man rested from his labors and the Earth was still for man no longer dwelt upon the Earth.
And it was good.

Oaklawn Has New Steward

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A. H. Landers of Harrisburg was named by the state Racing Commission Thursday to be steward for the Feb. 4-April 1 thoroughbred season at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs.

The commission named judges Ralph Shelby and Jack Thornton, both of Hot Springs; Roy Oliver of Texarkana and Charles Bussey of Little Rock. The firm of Harrod Burroughs and Callicot of Hot Springs was selected as veterinarian for the season.

The veterinary firm will receive $100 daily at the race meet and stewards and judges get $50 daily each.

Jerry Jackson of Little Rock was named the commission's special investigator for the season. He is a member of the firm of John Gill of Little Rock; the commission's attorney, Jackson will be paid $75 daily in the investigator job.

YOU CAN'T WIN

BALTIMORE (AP) — After a broken parking meter swallowed his two dimes, Francis J. Colletta sued the city.

"The parking meter is a symbol of this machine age and I'm going to fight it," Colletta, a university student, said in People's Court.

Judge Vern J. Munger Jr. awarded the youth a 20-cent settlement.

But Colletta could not collect it until he paid the court 50 cents for a machine-made copy of the judgment.

There's a Long List Of Deductible Taxes

By RAY DE CRANE

Certain tax and interest payments are deductible on their income tax return for those taxpayers who itemize their deductions.

This chapter in the series on the preparation of your annual tax return will be devoted to those taxes and interest items which constitute legal deductions.

The most common in the list of deductible taxes are real estate, gasoline, state sales tax and personal property taxes.

Charts prepared by Internal Revenue Service list the allowable gasoline tax and sales tax.

Depending upon the number of nonbusiness miles driven and the per gallon gasoline tax in your state, the charts will determine your gas tax allowance. Don't forget to consider the operation of either a second or third car in the family if you are buying the gas for it.

Where you claim higher than normal gasoline tax because of the operation of a second or third car make note of this fact on your return.

The sales tax charts for your state will show the allowable deduction for sales tax depending upon your income and the number in your family. Don't ignore the footnotes to the state charts. These frequently show how you can claim a larger allowance to compensate for a local tax that has been imposed in addition to the state tax.

In addition to the sales tax shown on the chart, you may additionally charge the actual tax on the purchase of an automobile, boat, airplane or mobile home. You can also take the added sales tax on the purchase of building materials for a new home if the taxes are separately stated and passed on to you. This would be most common to handymen who buy the materials and build their own home.

If you can prove you actually paid more state sales tax than the chart allows you take the higher amount, but be prepared to prove your claim.

Any interest paid for the use of money of a nonbusiness nature is fully deductible. This will generally include interest on a home mortgage, home improvement loan, car purchase, interest on notes to a bank, savings and loan or a credit union.

Interest paid to a broker for a margin account is also deductible. So, too, is the prepayment penalty on a mortgage paid off before maturity.

Carrying charges on installment purchases generally include a service and insurance charge in addition to the interest. To determine the allowable interest multiply the average monthly unpaid balance by six percent.

Interest may also be claimed on the interest charged on the use of bank credit cards, provided that no part of the charge is for service charges, loan fees or a credit investigation.

Interest paid to Internal Revenue for late payment on a tax return is deductible. But the penalty for late payment of a bill is not deductible.

SHOWBEAT

'Fiddler' Director Disliked Musicals

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Next on Norman Jewison's schedule, is "Jesus Christ, Superstar." After "Fiddler on the Roof," it should be a breeze.

The magnificent "Fiddler" was a film of a type Jewison once said he'd never do—a musical.

"I don't like musicals," the director says. "They are a treacherous medium on film, and usually not successful."

So, when he was approached to do the movie version of the hit play, he had "a 35-second debate" with himself before he said yes. He was worried both about his innate distrust of film musicals and his non-Jewish background.

"I'm not Jewish despite my name," he says. "I grew up in East Toronto and they thought I was Jewish. The kids used to call me 'Jewy' or 'Jew Boy,' but we were Calvinist Methodists. Out of self-protection, I used to go to the synagogue."

But he felt he could overcome those two drawbacks. He had a musical background—he directed the old Hit Parade on television, as well as many musical specials. And he set about to learn all he could about Jewish culture.

"I did a lot of research to get over my non-Jewish background," he says. "I spent many days in Jerusalem, spent a Sabbath with a rabbi and his family, spent days on a Hassidic Russian kibbutz."

"Topol kidded me that I knew more about his religion than he did."

And he believes the results are successful. He says "Fiddler" has replaced "The Cincinnati Kid" in his mind as the favorite of his own films.

Next stop is Israel, the international situation permitting, where he'll make "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

"I was interested in the property," he says, "long before it was a hit record. I think the Broadway version is a circus. My movie will be considerably different."

After that, maybe a property he owns called "Atuk," which is a comedy about an Eskimo. Topol is interested in the part.

Around Town

Lots going on in Hollywood. Universal transformed the Directors' Guild Theater into a Scottish palace for the screening of "Mary, Queen of Scots," a flashy but strangely emotionless film. They served steak-and-mushroom pie and Watney's Ale at the postscreening party and they even had bagpipers, one of whom hit the Watney's Ale pot so often he had to stagger off. Glenda Jackson was there, with her husband, who wore a tuxedo jacket over his black T-shirt.

A top-drawer crowd turned out to honor John Ford as the California Arts Commission and the American Film Institute showed Peter Bogdanovich's documentary on the director. "Directed by John Ford." Among the notables spotted—Jack Warner, Robert Wise, George Stevens, Garson Kanin and Ruth Gordon. George Marshall, John Wayne, James Stewart, Mervyn LeRoy, Gov. Ronald Reagan, William Wyler and many more. I enjoyed a bit of by-play when Jack Warner stopped by to greet the 75-year-old Ruth Gordon and said, gallantly, "Don't get up."

Miss Gordon celebrated her birthday at a big party and screening of her new film, the outlandish "Harold and Maude," with Bud Cort. A big crowd was on hand to help with the party—Jack Benny, Red Buttons, Ross Hunter, Bob Evans and Ali MacGraw. Tina Louise, Karen Black, Carol Lynley, Henry Mancini, etc., etc. Ruta Lee turned around to ask Red Buttons if he knew the names of any Catskill Mountain hotels and Red, who played the borscht belt for years, said, "Do you want them in alphabetical order?"

A MINORITY OPINION is registered by a gentleman in Rio de Janeiro who suddenly finds his park bench taken over by some high-spirited representatives from the other side of the generation gap. The girls, contestants in a "Senhorita Rio" beauty contest, apparently did not need his vote.

Dividend by Phone Firm

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Directors of Allied Telephone Co. announced Wednesday they had declared a 4 per cent stock dividend on the common and Class A stock outstanding Feb. 15. The dividend is payable to holders of record at the close of business Feb. 1.

The announcement said fractional shares would not be issued and shareholders, in lieu of fractional shares, would receive cash based on $18.50 per share, which was the mean of the closing price between the bid and asked price of the stock on Tuesday.

5,931 Students Register

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Officials at Arkansas State University said Wednesday unofficial figures showed that 5,931 students had registered for the spring semester at the school. The figure is one student short of the final enrollment figure a year ago and officials said late enrollment probably would push the enrollment past last spring making this spring's class the largest in the history of ASU.

FEBRUARY FILMING NEW YORK (AP) — Filming will begin in February on "The Thief Who Came To Dinner," starring Warren Oates and Ryan O'Neal. The film is a version of Terrence Lore Smith's novel. The script is by Walter Hill.

Victory Give Bucks Five Game Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the Milwaukee Bucks, defending National Basketball Association champions, have an important game to play, they usually are ready.

Last Sunday, they ended Los Angeles' record 33-game winning streak, then were beaten by Phoenix and Atlanta, before shattering Chicago 104-77 Friday night.

The victory gave the Bucks a five-game lead over the stubborn Bulls in the Midwest Division.

Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello was asked if his team was at a psychological peak against the Bulls like they were against the Lakers.

"Not like against L.A.," said Costello, "even though this probably was a bigger game for us. But we were ready to play."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Los Angeles trounced Philadelphia 135-121, Boston beat Detroit 108-94, Cincinnati clobbered Atlanta 126-102, Phoenix trimmed Cleveland 117-107, Portland edged Buffalo 102-100, and Golden State topped New York 115-111.

In the American Basketball Association, it was: Virginia 114, New York 104; Carolina 105, Floridians 98; Indiana 135, Memphis 120, and Kentucky 120, Dallas 104.

Kareem Jabbar led Milwaukee with 31 points and Bob Dandridge scored 14 of his 16 points in the first half when the Bucks raced to a 52-33 lead. But it was Milwaukee's strong defense that made its victory easy.

The Bulls connected on only 30.2 per cent of their field goal attempts and their 77 points were an all-time low.

Jerry West scored 30 points and had 13 assists, while Wilt Chamberlain netted 23 points, grabbed 20 rebounds and blocked six shots in leading Los Angeles back from a 32-19 deficit against Philadelphia. Bob Rule was high for the 76ers with 25 points.

Dave Cowens collected 26 points and tied a career high with 28 rebounds in leading Boston past Detroit. Cowens and Don Nelson each hit six points during an 18-4 Boston spurt in the third period that broke a 57-57 tie. Jimmy Walker led the Pistons with 25 points.

Nate Archibald's 43 points and Sam Lacey's 17 points, 19 rebounds and six blocked shots helped Cincinnati wallop Atlanta. Lou Hudson paced the Hawks with 28 points.

Neal Walk scored 14 of his game-high 24 points and grabbed seven rebounds in the first period, keying Phoenix' victory over Cleveland. Bobby Smith topped the Cavaliers with 21 points.

Geoff Petrie's 16-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining enabled Portland to squeeze past Buffalo. Portland's Sidney Wicks and the Braves' Bob Kauffman shared scoring honors with 28 points each.

Nate Thurmond poured in 31 points for Golden State as the Warriors handed New York its fifth straight setback. Dick Barnett had 26 points for the Knicks.

Pacers Win Over Memphis By 135-120

The Memphis Pros scored a record 52 points in one quarter and couldn't even enjoy it.

The problem was that they waited until the last period. And by that time, the Indiana Pacers were well in command enroute to a 135-120 American Basketball Association victory Friday night.

The Pros' point production in the first game of an ABA doubleheader in Toronto broke the former record of 51 held jointly by Indiana and the Pittsburgh Condors.

Kentucky's Colonels won the second game of Friday night's twin bill, 120-104 over the Dallas Chaparrals. In the night's other ABA action, the Carolina Cougars stopped the Floridians 105-98 and the Virginia Squires defeated the New York Nets 114-104.

In the National Basketball Association, it was: Boston 108, Detroit 94; Cincinnati 126, Atlanta 102; Portland 102, Buffalo 100; Los Angeles 135, Philadelphia 121; Milwaukee 104, Chicago 77; Golden State 115, New York 111.

Indiana opened a 101-68 lead with rookie George McGinnis doing much of the scoring before the Pros came back with their last-period explosion highlighted by Lloyd King's 20 points. Indiana scored 34 in the last stanza.

McGinnis pitched in a game-high 31 points. Don Sidle, who didn't get into the game until midway in the second period, led the losers with 21 points.

Kentucky opened an early lead and was never headed enroute to its victory over Dallas. Artis Gilmore and Louie Dampier had 28 points each for the Colonels.

Rookie Jim McDaniels scored 30 points, 14 in the final period, to help Carolina withstand a late Floridian rally. Carolina led by only 96-95 with less than two minutes to play before McDaniels hit a free throw and veteran Joe Caldwell added two more for a four-point edge that stood up.

Virginia broke an early tie with 13 straight points and ran away from New York. Charlie Scott, who had a game-high 31 points, helped the Squires beat the Nets for the fourth time this season.

SUPER BOWL

--Indiana Pacers

ABA--Western Division

1970-71 finish: W 58, L 26--1st place

PROSPECTUS: Though they had best regular season record in ABA, Pacers failed in attempt to defend league championship when Utah knocked them out of playoffs in tough seven-game second round set. Coach Bob Leonard stood pat in trade marts but will look at five rookies, headed by 6-8 forward George McGinnis, signed after sophomore year at Indiana. Whole team is younger than 30 and with powerhouse front line plus dominating overall defense still around, should be better than ever.

FORWARDS: First team all-ABA choice Roger Brown (20.6 ppg) is versatile, tireless performer, scoring, passing off well and playing rugged defense. At 6-5, doesn't rebound too much--averaged 6.9--but doesn't need to on this team. While 6-9 running mate Bob Netolicky (18.8) had subpar playoff series, he is reliable four-year veteran who will get his 10 rebounds a game. Puzzling failure of 6-8 Don Sidle (13.0), a 20-point scorer for Miami in 1969-70 but washout with both Denver and Pacers last season, gives McGinnis chance at some playing time. He averaged 30 points for Hoosiers as sophomore. Rookie's presence may snap Sidle out of slump and will put pressure on holdover Earle Higgins (4.4). Rating: B+.

CENTER: Mel Daniels (21.0) was voted MVP for second time after leading league in rebounds with 18.0 average. A decisive player who is careful shooter, real obstacle to opponents on defense. He's 27, at peak physically and alert mentally. He's also long on stamina (four of five pacer starters, in fact, averaged more than 37 minutes playing time) and what time he leaves can be filled by Netolicky. Rookie Darnell Hillman of San Jose State, 6-9, will bid to be Daniels' caddy. Rating: A.

GUARDS: Playmaker Fred Lewis (18.8) had typical year until playoffs, when he slipped badly and had by far worst series of three-season ABA career. He'll be hungry. Teams again with 5-10 Bill Keller (14-3), who picked up a lot of slack with fine playoff showing and finished eighth, right behind Lewis, in assist standings with 5.3 average. Top reserve Warren Armstrong, (11.0) returns, as do Wayne Chapman (8.1) and disappointing Rick Mount (6.6), former Indiana University dynamo who learned about pros hard way last season. Anybody in the market for slightly used super All-American? Rookies Bob Bissant of Loyola of Louisiana, Rick Erickson of Washington State and Rich Walker of Bowling Green will have to scrap to stick around. Rating: B.

PREDICTION: Their toughest competition will be in East. First in West.

Jim Thorpe Trophy Winner

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK--(NEA)--Bob Griese makes a determined if unsuccessful attempt to be inconspicuous. He drives a three-year-old car, dresses modestly and is as dashing as quotable as the minutes of a bank board meeting. For a football player, he is not imposing physically, and in a crowd might be lost under the arm of a colleague.

For all this, he still stands out. And his fellow footballers have voted the Miami quarterback the 1971 Jim Thorpe Trophy winner as the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League.

Griese was chosen by a vote of the team captains and player representatives from the 26 teams in the NFL. The poll was conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association in cooperation with the NFL Players Association.

Griese, for the second straight year, has led Miami into the play-offs and led the American Conference in passing. He did this despite an injury to his left shoulder in the 10th game of the season.

From Hill to Griese . . .

Year-by-year rundown of Jim Thorpe Trophy winners:

- 1955--Harlon Hill, Chicago Bears
- 1956--Frank Gifford, New York Giants
- 1957--John Unitas, Baltimore
- 1958--Jim Brown, Cleveland
- 1959--Charley Conerly, New York Giants
- 1960--Norm Van Brocklin, Philadelphia
- 1961--Y. A. Tittle, New York Giants
- 1962--Jim Taylor, Green Bay
- 1963--(tie) Y. A. Tittle, Jim Brown
- 1964--Lenny Moore, Baltimore
- 1965--Jim Brown
- 1966--Bart Starr, Green Bay
- 1967--John Unitas
- 1968--Earl Morrall, Baltimore
- 1969--Roman Gabriel, Los Angeles
- 1970--John Brodie, San Francisco
- 1971--Bob Griese, Miami

son, an injury so painful that the slightest touch draws a grimace, if not a howl.

Perhaps the highlight of the season for him came in the Pittsburgh game. He was suffering with an intestinal disorder, and did not start the game. Soon, Miami was losing 21-3. Griese came in and led a second half surge and Miami won, 24-21.

The emergence of Griese as a superior quarterback is based on several considerations. First, in his own grasp of the position. He entered pro ball in 1967, after being a three-year All-American at Purdue. After a couple of seasons at Miami, Griese was finally able to say, "I can now look over the field as if I am a chess player looking at the board. Before, I felt like I was down on the board itself. I got perspective from experience."

Secondly, the Miami running game has become one of the best in football. "I take pride in deciding the right kind of running plays to call against the various defenses," he said. And he has such superb runners as Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Mercury Morris to take pride in. The running takes pressure off the passing.

"In the first couple years," he said, "I passed a lot and we lost a lot."

Thirdly, the coming of wide receiver Paul Warfield was a great boon to the Griese passing game. Until last season, Miami did not have a breakout threat as a receiver. Warfield came in a trade from Cleveland. "Now," said Griese, "I try to throw to Paul at least 10 times a game." (In that Pittsburgh game, for example, all three Miami touchdowns came as a result of Griese-to-Warfield passes.)

Griese grew up in Evansville, Ind. His father died when he was 10. "That left my brother and me as the men of the family," he said. "I think it was then that I learned about leadership and assuming responsibility."

His brother, Bill, two years older than Bob, could not afford to go to college upon high school graduation. Bob was able to go on a football scholarship but Bill worked as a railroad clerk and weekly sent Bob spending money. "It was a great sacrifice for him," Bob says now.

And when Bob signed a big bonus contract with the Dolphins, he stipulated that a clause be included which provided for the college education of his brother and sister. Both have now graduated and are in teaching.

Bob Griese will receive the Jim Thorpe trophy, donated by the Seamless Co., at the annual all-pro party hosted by CBS and NEA at Television City, Hollywood on Jan. 20.

Dallas Figures to Beat Bowl Jinx

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

NEW ORLEANS, La.--(NEA)--The facts, ma'am, only the facts, O.K., Sergeant, here they are, pure and simple. The Dallas Cowboys, on the precipice of Super Bowl VI, have won more games than any team in professional football the last six years. That includes both regular season (63) and playoffs (5).

For that period, Coach Tom Landry has produced victories at a rate of 77 per cent. That's exactly the percentage of the late Vince Lombardi in his hallowed eight-year tenure with the Green Bay Packers.

"Facts," lyricized the old Scot, Robert Burns, "are chiefs that winna ding, an' downa be disputed."

Landry, who comes from the Rio Grande border country of southernmost Texas, couldn't distinguish the Highland burr from a Cockney slur but appreciates the poetic support.

He and the Cowboys are striving mightily to overcome the dogma that Dallas doesn't, quote, win the big ones, unquote.

The impending joust with the miracle kids from Miami to settle the supremacy of pro football (and collect the winners' dividends of $15,000 a man) should erase that misimpression. Which means I'm putting it on the line, right here, that the Dallas Cowboys will win Super Bowl VI, perhaps by a score of XXIV to XIII.

The Cowboys are picked precisely because they are a great team at the peak of success few others have managed. They have won six straight division titles and two conference titles. True, they have not reigned supreme.

They lost one NFL championship game (to Green Bay in 1966) when Dandy Don Meredith was hemmed in two yards from a tying touchdown.

They lost another NFL title (to Green Bay in '67) when Jethro Pugh couldn't get the footing to stop a quarterback sneak on a field frozen by minus-13 degree temperature.

And they fumbled away what has become known as the Stupor Bowl just a year ago, to Baltimore.

All three games were decided as the clock ran out.

That kind of luck usually is delegated to the Italian army.

The Cowboys have come up with the one factor this year that has made them more omnipotent than ever and sublimated the fickle finger of fate. They have a field general, an ex-Navy skipper named Roger Staubach, who adds excitement and emotion to their attack.

They also have a great defensive unit (five of them have been all-pros). And they have Landry, whose impact on modern professional football is still not fully appreciated. He revolutionized defense when he introduced the system of disciplined keys and refined the basic 4-3-4 alignment. He was equally a pioneer on offense with multiple sets.

The Cowboys are supposed to reflect his personality--coldly efficient, unemotional. But actually Tom seethes under a placid exterior. And he is a practical person who was able to work controversial running back Duane Thomas back into the lineup.

The Miami Dolphins, on paper, aren't in the Cowboys' class. But they are hopped up by two straight sensational performances in the playoffs. Coach Don Shula has done a remarkable job in turning around a bedraggled franchise that, since being organized in 1966, had never won more than five games until last year.

Bob Griese, the first AFL-bred player to win the Jim Thorpe Trophy, symbolizes the young spirit of the club.

Super Bowl Team Comparison

OFFENSE

RECEIVING--Dolphins' Paul Warfield is a super threat, but Cowboys have two great deep threats in Lance Alworth, Bobby Hayes, plus greater depth at tight end.

RUNNING--Dallas is more explosive with trio of Thomas, Calvin Hill, Walt Garrison; Miami is more bruising with Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick. Kiick's also a fine receiver out of the backfield.

PASSING--Staubach and Griese were supposed to be the new breed. Actually, Griese's more orthodox, runs only when he has to. Staubach's a shade behind him as a passer.

LINE--Dallas is quicker all around, with guard John Niland, tackle Ruffin Wright outstanding. Miami features Larry Little as a pulling guard, gets leadership from center Bob DeMarco.

DEFENSE

LINE--Dallas has the stronger front four, gets a better pass rush, and there's no one on the field to match tackle Bob Lilly. Dolphin to watch is right end Bill Stanfill.

LINEBACKERS--Again, the edge to Dallas. Lee Roy Jordan, Chuck Howley, Dave Edwards have played to gether nine years, still extremely mobile. Dolphins got fantastic season from Nick Buoniconti in middle.

SECONDARY--Miami strong at the safeties with Dick Anderson, Jake Scott, vulnerable on the corners. Dallas has three all-pro types in Mel Renfro, Herb Adderley, Cornell Green.

KICKING--Cowboys have punting margin with Ron Wobay, but little Garo Ypreman is better field goal threat than Mike Clark, which could be vital.

FINAL PREDICTED SCORE: Dallas 24, Miami 13. Which is not yet a fact, ma'am.
